Dear Newton,

Going back from Paris, I found the booklet of Lars Eriksen with the two dedications - the printed one of Lars, and the handwritten other from you; what is the better ? Both pleased much to me, as it is a pleasure to see you soon in Brasil - I search to avoid the noise and the fidgeting of SP, because I am tired these times and I will be even more after the journey - moreover, as the preceding times, I will probably take some time until I recover my portuguese - but we will certainly have much occasions for speaking during the conference; I made - I was trying to make - many things, and very difficult, during the last years.

I began also to read the poems - I like them, some more than others - of course, things are always so - and I like very much some. Will the poet visit the conference ? I hope there will be some declamatory evening; I am sure that the music of the words of these poems, in the portuguese language, is something marvellous.

Sincerely yours,
Marcel
